Microsoft HyperV virtual machines in Azure can host almost any operating system and application platform. With hypervisor mobility, moving images in and out of your data-centres is straightforward offering benefit from the utility cost economies. Solidsoft Reply can work with you to “lift and shift” migrations of your individual servers and complete application systems to Azure IaaS.

Create native cloud applications in almost any development language or environment quickly and deploy them around the globe in minutes with unlimited scalability.

Solidsoft Reply has created and launched composite applications and integration solutions in a matter of weeks to respond to business opportunity and imperatives.

HYBRID APPLICATIONS

The Microsoft Cloud OS spans your data-centres and Azure, allowing services to be distributed and integrated across the most appropriate environments; data on premises for compliance, Azure IaaS for scale up services and Azure PaaS for scale out services.
